

GW Hillel in partnership with VT Hillel and UMD Hillel

DMV Pipeline • Innovation Grant

The DMV Hillel Pipeline Project works to build a more interconnected DMV Jewish community so that graduates can more easily plug-into similar types of relational Jewish spaces beyond their college years. The Pipeline Project aims to do this through building a consortium of organizations that cover multiple stages of development, crafting best practices to help individuals address the 'spaces in-between' of their Jewish journeys, and creating and implementing a mentorship model to act as the key means of connecting individuals from one stage to the next. We will utilize the rich relationships from the consortium and wider community to help individuals navigate their personal and professional lives, keeping Jewish values at heart.

Proposal

DMV Pipeline

Funding

$70,000

Category

New - NextGen - Innovation

Program Goals

1. Community building through Relationship Ambassadors (VT)
2. Concierge and task-force-inspired programming (UMD)
3. Personalized and high-impact mentorship pairings (GW)

Metrics: The George Washington University Hillel

20 young adults engaged in DC Jewish community
20 young adults engaged in DC Jewish community

20 mentors assigned
23 mentors and mentees assigned

 40 new attendees
40 new attendees

 5 partnerships with other organizations
5 partnerships with other organizations

 40 unique attendees
40 unique attendees

Innovation & Impact Grants

Metrics: University of Maryland Hillel

250

alumni engaged in DC Jewish community
200 participants engaged in DC Jewish community

Established a leadership board of 12 individuals

200 connections made with seniors
100 seniors at a Senior-only Shabbat

Metrics: Virginia Tech Hillel

60

alumni engaged in DC Jewish college community
50 alumni engaged in DC Jewish college community

13

mentors assigned

60 new attendees
1,200 new attendees